

Our great land of America was founded on the principles of Democracy, Freedom, and Liberty. How can we have freedom if we are ignorant of dissenting views, if we are only able to listen to those things that are most profitable to corporate media conglomerates?

Our freedoms must be protected. Our access to a broad range of viewpoints and sources must be sustained. Our springs of knowledge and news must not all come from the same source, for if that single source is poisoned, we will have nowhere to turn.

You, as our representatives, must protect us. You are the voice not just of the American people, but you must realize that you are the very voice of Freedom, Liberty, and Democracy. You must recognize the importance of each small decision such as this.

We in America should not continue to confuse feudalism, the rule of the most powerful, with freedom and Democracy; for freedom does not exist unless it applies to all equally, not to those who are rich alone. Democracy does not exist if it is not the people, with informed and moral spirits, who are ruling.

This deregulation would be another step towards the destruction of freedom, true freedom, in which the many hues of individuality shine forth. Do not be tricked into believing that deregulation will bring freedom, for if it can be seen as freedom at all, it is the false, poisoned freedom to blindly pursue one's own greed.

How many stories there are of the Devil tempting Man with a mirage, a shadow, a shimmering apparition that offers everything one could desire? Unless the person who is being tempted recognizes the lie, he or she is drawn mercilessly into the depths of Hell.

See deregulation for what it really is. Look past the mirage of freedom that deregulation gives to these corporations.

Look past the shimmering wealth that may be offered to you by these companies, for a corporation is not a person and has nothing but greed and ash in its heart, not the pureness of heart and the strength of spirit of the Lord.
